dallasnews
Powered by The Dallas Morning News

Toll connectors for LBJ, I-35E won't open this weekend after all

3   3   0   G+ Share 0   1   AA ▲ ▼

By BRANDON FORMBY
Staff Writer
Published: 12 July 2014 11:05 AM
Updated: 12 July 2014 05:09 PM

The new tolled bridges between Interstate 35E and LBJ Freeway won't open this weekend as expected, a spokeswoman for the project said Friday.

The developer is putting finishing touches on the project and must wait for the Texas Department of Transportation to clear it. That is expected to happen next week.

The interchanges are the second of three phases in LBJ's $2.7 billion expansion. They will eventually connect to managed toll lanes being added to LBJ, Loop 12 and I-35E through Denton County.

The existing free interchanges between I-35E and LBJ won't be affected by the project and will remain an option.

Did you see something wrong in this story, or something missing? Let us know.

You Might Also Like

What Your Feet Say
About Your Health
(Health Central)

9 Big Holes That Aren't
the Grand Canyon
(AARP)

Jennifer Aniston's Bikini
Bod Through the Ages!
(Us Weekly)

Tony Romo has given up golf
(Golf.com)

Recommended by

From the web

15 Forgotten Actresses From the '90s – Where Are They Now? Fame10

Andy Griffith's Widow to Raze His Home AARP

CNN Money: How Young Millionaires Invest CNN Money

More from Dallasnews.com

Former teacher at Carrollton school accused of sexually assaulting students
News

As I-345's fate remains unclear, TxDOT studies extent of needed fixes
Transportation Blog

In dying act, minister hoped to inspire social justice News

Recommended by

Comments

Write a comment